

ADA2OS

No Direction Scripts: Slang, Informal, and Formal
Grinnell

1. Find a partner who is at the same level of language as you (AO with AO, BO with BO, etc).
2. Decide who is A and who is B.
3. Read the three scripts found below.
4. What kind of language is being used in each script: slang; informal; formal?
5. Write the word that best describes the kind of language or register in the blank beside the word.
6. Practice speaking your lines out loud 5 to 10 times.
7. Try to use your voice and how you speak to show emotion.
8. Try to use your voice and how you speak to make the situation clear to the listener.
9. After you have practiced each script pick the one that you both like the best.
10. Use "Vocaroo" to make a recording of you and your partner speaking the script.

Script #1 Register: _____ A: What's up? B: Yo. A: Peace. B: You chillaxin? A: Naw. B: Why you so spun out? A: If I tell you its low key. B: Gucci. A: My bae is a h8er. B: Salty!	Script #2 Register: _____ A: How's it going? B: Good. A: Anything new? B: Nope. A: I just got a new puppy. B: Really? A: Yeah. He's so cute! B: I'm so jealous! A: Do you wanna meet him? B: Obviously!
---	---

Script #3

Register: _____

A: Excuse me, Sir?

B: Madam?

A: Would you please show me that beautiful necklace?

B: The emeralds will nicely match Madam's green eyes.

A: What a kind thing to say.

B: Please, allow me to help you fasten the clasp.

A: You are very helpful.

B: Thank you.

A: Please wrap it up for me and charge it to the Rothchild account.

B: Of course, Madam, right away.