

Presenters for 2021 Winter Webinars

Using Math Moments to Multiply Math Skills (a 10-part series)

Episode 5: Make Math Moments Through Ratios and Rates: Thursday, January 14

Episode 6: Make Math Moments Through Proportional Relationships: Thursday, January 21

Episode 7: Make Math Moments Through Linear Relationships & Equations: Thursday, January 28

Episode 8: Make Math Moments Through Analyzing Data & Probability: Thursday, February 4

Episode 9: Make Math Moments Through Measurement (Part 1): Thursday, February 11

Episode 10: Make Math Moments Through Measurement (Part 2): Thursday, February 18

Kyle Pearce

Kyle Pearce is the K-12 Mathematics Consultant with the Greater Essex County District School Board, where his passion for mathematics fuels him to uncover creative ways to spark curiosity and promote sense-making through the inquiry process by using tasks that are contextual, visual and concrete. An Apple Distinguished Educator and Google Certified Innovator, Kyle shares his most recent noticings, wonderings, and reflections in mathematics pedagogy and effective uses of technology by delivering workshops across North America, blogging on TapIntoTeenMinds.com. Kyle lives in Belle River, Ontario with his wife, daughter and son.

Jon Orr

Jon Orr is a high school math teacher at John McGregor Secondary School in the Lambton-Kent District School Board. When not teaching his students or spending time with his family, he leads workshops and presentations on teaching pedagogy in the math classroom. As an Apple Distinguished Educator and Desmos Fellow, Jon routinely talks about implementing technology and great teaching strategies in his classroom. Lately, he's been excited about promoting struggle in his students and teaching them about resilience while problem solving. Jon lives in Tilbury, Ontario with his wife and three daughters.

Le droit de vote au fil du temps : questionnement et apprentissage hybride

Mardi 19 janvier

Camille Blanchard-Séguin

Camille Blanchard-Séguin (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante certifiée par l'Ordre des enseignants et enseignantes de l'Ontario qui travaille avec la branche d'éducation civique d'Élections Canada. Elle a travaillé plusieurs années en éducation avec la Bibliothèque du Parlement, et termine présentement sa maîtrise à l'Institut d'études pédagogiques de l'Ontario. Elle s'intéresse à l'inclusion, à la langue française, et à l'action citoyenne.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante au niveau secondaire et conseillère pédagogique à Ottawa. Elle est récipiendaire du Prix d'histoire du Gouverneur général pour l'excellence en enseignement édition 2013. Elle est auteure de diverses ressources éducatives en histoire et citoyenneté. Rachel est présentement en détachement à Élections Canada à titre de conseillère en pédagogie.

Voting Rights through Time: Inquiry and Blended Learning

Wednesday, January 20

Zoe Flatman

Zoe Flatman (she/her) is an award-winning teacher in the Toronto District School Board, currently on secondment with Elections Canada as the civic education coordinator for the Greater Toronto Area. Zoe has a passion for global citizenship, sustainability, and civic engagement.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw is the president of the Ontario History and Social Science Teachers' Association (OHASSTA) and the Social Studies Educators Network of Canada. She has been teaching for over 20 years and worked as an instructional coach with the Ottawa-Carleton District School Board. She is the author of several textbooks and learning resources that emphasize inquiry and historical thinking, and a recipient of the 2013 Governor General's History Award for Excellence in Teaching. She is currently on secondment to Elections Canada as an education specialist, where she has developed resources to support educators in teaching about elections and democracy.

Decolonizing Voice – Whose Voice Is It?

Tuesday, January 26

Matthew Sheahan

Matthew Sheahan is a drama and Indigenous Studies teacher at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute in Picton, Ontario. He is also the Department Head of the Arts and Indigenous Studies, and the current president of the Council of Ontario Drama and Dance Educators. He has delivered workshops focusing on utilizing and responding to Indigenous issues through drama, without the appropriation of voice or culture, across Ontario, including CODE conferences, the OTF Curriculum Forum and Children and Youth in Performance at YPT.

Troy Maracle

Troy Maracle is a husband and father of two. He is a member of Kenhté:ke Kanyen'kehá:ka or Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte, more commonly referred to as the Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory, where he lives. He has been involved in Indigenous education for the last 24 years as a classroom teacher, facilitator, and currently holds the position of Indigenous Education Lead for the Hastings and Prince Edward District School Board. He has worked as a consultant and writer for several publishers and has been involved in delivering professional development in Indigenous education provincially with the Ministry of Education. Annually, Troy hosts a provincial Indigenous Leads Gathering for all leads working in Ontario school boards. He has been involved with the First Nations, Métis and Inuit Education Association of Ontario since its inception.

Démocratie et compétences numériques : questionnement et apprentissage hybride

Mardi 9 février

Camille Blanchard-Séguin

Camille Blanchard-Séguin (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante certifiée par l'Ordre des enseignants et enseignantes de l'Ontario qui travaille avec la branche d'éducation civique d'Élections Canada. Elle a travaillé plusieurs années en éducation avec la Bibliothèque du Parlement, et termine présentement sa maîtrise à l'Institut d'études pédagogiques de l'Ontario. Elle s'intéresse à l'inclusion, à la langue française, et à l'action citoyenne.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante au niveau secondaire et conseillère pédagogique à Ottawa. Elle est récipiendaire du Prix d'histoire du Gouverneur général pour l'excellence en enseignement édition 2013. Elle est auteure de diverses ressources éducatives en histoire et citoyenneté. Rachel est présentement en détachement à Elections Canada à titre de conseillère en pédagogie.

Digital Skills for Democracy: Inquiry and Blended Learning

Wednesday, February 10

Zoe Flatman

Zoe Flatman (she/her) is an award-winning teacher in the Toronto District School Board, currently on secondment with Elections Canada as the civic education coordinator for the Greater Toronto Area. Zoe has a passion for global citizenship, sustainability, and civic engagement.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw is the president of the Ontario History and Social Science Teachers' Association (OHASSTA) and the Social Studies Educators Network of Canada. She has been teaching for over 20 years and worked as an instructional coach with the Ottawa-Carleton District School Board. She is the author of several textbooks and learning resources that emphasize inquiry and historical thinking, and a recipient of the 2013 Governor General's History Award for Excellence in Teaching. She is currently on secondment to Elections Canada as an education specialist, where she has developed resources to support educators in teaching about elections and democracy.

Élections en chiffres : questionnement et apprentissage hybride

Mardi 16 février

Camille Blanchard-Séguin

Camille Blanchard-Séguin (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante certifiée par l'Ordre des enseignants et enseignantes de l'Ontario qui travaille avec la branche d'éducation civique d'Élections Canada. Elle a travaillé plusieurs années en éducation avec la Bibliothèque du Parlement, et termine présentement sa maîtrise à l'Institut d'études pédagogiques de l'Ontario. Elle s'intéresse à l'inclusion, à la langue française, et à l'action citoyenne.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw (elle – accords au féminin) est une enseignante au niveau secondaire et conseillère pédagogique à Ottawa. Elle est récipiendaire du Prix d'histoire du Gouverneur général pour l'excellence en enseignement édition 2013. Elle est auteure de diverses ressources éducatives en histoire et citoyenneté. Rachel est présentement en détachement à Elections Canada à titre de conseillère en pédagogie.

Elections by The Numbers: Inquiry and Blended Learning

Wednesday, February 17

Zoe Flatman

Zoe Flatman (she/her) is an award-winning teacher in the Toronto District School Board, currently on secondment with Elections Canada as the civic education coordinator for the Greater Toronto Area. Zoe has a passion for global citizenship, sustainability, and civic engagement.

Rachel Collishaw

Rachel Collishaw is the president of the Ontario History and Social Science Teachers' Association (OHASSTA) and the Social Studies Educators Network of Canada. She has been teaching for over 20 years and worked as an instructional coach with the Ottawa-Carleton District School Board. She is the author of several textbooks and learning resources that emphasize inquiry and historical thinking, and a recipient of the 2013 Governor General's History Award for Excellence in Teaching. She is currently on secondment to Elections Canada as an education specialist, where she has developed resources to support educators in teaching about elections and democracy.

Demystifying the Teachers' Pension Plan: OTPP for Teacher Candidates

Tuesday, February 23

Jeffrey Barber

Jeffrey Barber is the Director of Pension and Economic Affairs at OTF and a Director on the Board of the Workers' Health and Safety Centre. His responsibilities at OTF are focused on the oversight of OTF's involvement in the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan (OTPP). This includes numerous liaison roles with committees and workgroups related to OTPP as well as with government officials, pension regulators and industry stakeholders on a wide variety of issues affecting pensions.

Jeffrey was District, Teacher and Occasional Teacher President for the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) in Renfrew County for 11 years.

